- › VISION iV: ŠKODA's next step towards electromobility
- › KAMIQ: Newcomer completely redefines the compact class for ŠKODA
- › FABIA R5: Next expansion stage of the WRC2 race car with technology update and new design
- › KLEMENT: Innovative mobility concept for the city

Geneva/Mladá Boleslav, 5 March 2019 – At the International Motor Show in Geneva (5-17 March 2019), ŠKODA will be presenting a specific outlook on electromobility made by ŠKODA with the VISION iV. The concept study is celebrating its world premiere in Geneva alongside the ŠKODA KAMIQ. The city SUV for the European market rounds off the Czech car manufacturer's offer in this vehicle segment. The ŠKODA SCALA is also celebrating its trade fair debut. The newcomer offers high functionality, state-of-the-art connectivity, emotional design and a high level of active and passive safety, completely redefining the compact class for ŠKODA. In addition, ŠKODA Motorsport is introducing the next expansion stage of its FABIA R5 racing car in Switzerland. With the KLEMENT, ŠKODA is presenting an innovative concept for the urban mobility of the future.
