

The Peaq Sportline: dynamic inside and out

- › Sportline trim line offered from launch
- › Distinctive exterior elements emphasise the dynamic look
- › Sportline Lounge interior with sports seats and an all-black theme

Mladá Boleslav, 23 June 2026 – The Peaq will be available in a Sportline variant from launch. It is instantly recognisable by its glossy black detailing and is the only Peaq that can be specified with optional two-tone paintwork and a black roof. The interior adopts an all-black theme throughout, from the seats and door panels to the dashboard and headlining, for a distinctly sporty character.

Black exterior accents underline distinct visual appearance

The Peaq Sportline is characterised by glossy black exterior accents, including the vehicle lettering, the Škoda lettering on the D-pillars, and the Sportline badge at the rear. The Peaq Sportline is also the only trim line available with an optional black roof as part of a two-tone finish. LED Matrix headlights and an illuminated Tech-Deck Face with Light Band are included as standard. The Peaq Sportline comes equipped with black 20-inch alloy wheels as standard, with 21-inch wheels offered as an option.

Sportline Lounge Design Selection

The Sportline Lounge Design Selection features electrically adjustable sports seats with enhanced lateral support and integrated head restraints. A three-spoke sports steering wheel and sports pedal covers reinforce the sporty character, further accentuated by the black headlining. The upholstery combines Suedia with Techtona, a high-quality leather alternative finished in black, with white contrast stitching.

Powertrain and equipment packages

The Peaq Sportline can be combined with all powertrain variants, equipment packages, and standalone options. The Convenience and Tech Packages are included in the Peaq Sportline as standard, along with SunSet – tinted rear side windows and tailgate glass.
